March 5, 2024

(Regina, SK) On March 5 at approximately 11:00 a.m. a drip was observed on to one of the Brier playing surfaces, resulting in a stoppage in play to investigate. REAL determined that a combination of interior building temp, combined with the cold outside air, was causing the development of condensation on a protruding apparatus connected to a roof antenna. The condensation thawed, and developed a small drip on to the ice surface below. The issue was rectified by adjusting the pipe position, and redirecting the accumulation of water to a collection point. Play resumed approximately 18 minutes later.

REAL is in close and constant communication with the Brier ice making team to ensure the building temperatures and configurations provide optimum playing conditions.
